

Congestion charging

Coming soon to your area?

(if the Mayor has his way, but there's still time to object)

Only

The London Mayor has released some proposals that could drastically affect your way of life. The Mayor's Transport Strategy threatens:

- Extending the Congestion Charge (road pricing) London-wide, with local councils charging drivers to use local roads
- New and higher motoring taxes to stop you travelling
- A 'workplace parking levy' – a tax on going to work
- Reduction in the availability of parking
- Measures to remove road space from drivers who've paid for it
- Gratuitous 'car-free days', road closures and speed restrictions

You can see why they have not been heavily publicised. It's a blatant case of Highway Robbery! For more information, including an easy means of objecting online, see www.cantpaywontpay.london.

Or you can object by post to Freepost TFL Consultations.
